HASTINGS.

Hastings has a high reputation as a watering place. "Its popularity in this respect," remarks one writer, "is owing to its historical interest, its picturesque situation, the many beautiful walks in the neighbourhood, its lieathy climate, which, while bracing and vigorous in the higher parts of the town, is in its lower parts specially suited, from its mildness, for sufferers from pulmonary complaints." It is a place of great antiquity, and was of some importance in the time of the Anglo-Sakons.

MOON'S CHANGES

GARDENING.

SOW beans and peas in the beginning and end of the month, a few early cabbages; red cabbages and Savoys in the last week. Sow also early horn carrot, Durch tur-nip, onions for a full crop, in light soils, with a few leeks. Strawberries may be planted about the end of the month. Continue the transp'anting of hardy biennial flowers. On mild days admit air freely to auriculas, &c.

ST. PETER PORT.

THIS is the capital of the island of Guernsey. It is situated on the slopes of eminences bordering the eastern coast, an esplanade with a massive wall of granite lying between the town and the sea. One of the interesting features of St. Peter Port is the house which was lived in by Victor Hugo, the famous French author. The old town is composed of narrow, steep streets; on the table land above there are handsome and comfortable houses and villas, wide roads, and pretty gardens. There are many lovely walks in the neighbourhood.

THE IRWELL.

The rivers of the city of Manchester are four in number-the Irwell, the Medlock, the Irk, and the Tib. The last has to the Tib. be taken on trust, for it is entirely over-arched and covered by streets and warehouses. The Iraell Manchester separates from Salford. It is crossed by a series of bridges, and has a look of manufacturing business, becoming a river belonging to a city whose industries are famous throughout the civilized world. It has an average width of ninetyone feet, and an average depth of about seven feet. The Irwell finds its way into the Mersey, which is about ten miles distant.

Attend to the hoeing and thinning of spinach, onions, and turnips, and stake up peas. Sow main or succession crops of annuals of all sorts. Biennials and perinnials should be sown before the middle of the month. Finish the transplanting of herbaceous plants by the end of the first week.

WINDERMERE.

THE prevailing character of the scenery around Windermere, is soft and graceful beauty. It does not approach the wildness and sublimity which characterise some of the other sheets of water in the Lake district, and challenges admiration on the score of grandeur only at its head, where the mountains, after retiring for a short distance, rise to a considerable height, and present admirable outlines to the eye. Windermere is about eleven miles in length, and one mile in hreadth. Numerous islands, varying in size, diversify its surface.

IN NORTH WALES.

THE journey by rail tetween Barmouth and Dolgelly is exceedingly fine, but the journey by road perhaps surpasses it, and every tourist should walk or drive along the estuary. Barmouth has long been a favourite resort for the lovers of beautiful scenery, who found their way to the mouth of the Mawdoach years before the rail-way brought its streams of tourists. Dolgelly is equally a favourite, pre-senting features of attraction found in few other places in Great Britain. The town, which is less than 50 feet above the sea, has a winter population of about 3,000.

THE GRETA.

ONE of the many pleasant excursions to be taken from Keswick is that to the village of Threlkeld, the river Greta forming one of the features which give character and interest to the outing. The Greta will always be associated with the memory of the famous poets of the Lake district. Wordsworth has made it the subject of his verse, and Southey lived in Greta Hall from 1803 to 1843, the year of his death. Some of the scenery on the river is of the finest and most remarkable description.

EASTHAM.

EASTHAM has come of late years into prominence through its lying at the entrance of the Manchester Canal. It is situated opposite Garston, on the Mersey estuary. The entrance to the canal is through locks, so that the necessary depth of water is always retained in the whole canal. The canal was commenced at Eastham in November, 1887, and the waterway was opened to public traffic from Eastham to Manchester on January 1st, 1894. Her late Majesty Queen Victoria declared it open on the 21st of May of that year.

HAVERFORDWEST.

This Welsh town is the capital of Pembroke. occupies a highly picturesque situation on the sides and at the foot of several steep hills, on the West Cleddau River. The castle, shown in our engraving, was erected by Gilbert de Clare, first Earl of Pembroke, in the fourteenth century. The keep is now used as the county jail. St. Mary's Church, at Haverfordwest, is one of the finest in South Wales. The nave is remarkable for its 10of carving, and for its skilful construction and rich ornamentation. The trade of Haverfordwest is inconsiderable.

AT BARTON-ON-HUMBER. OUR illustration shows an interesting old Lincoln-shire aqueduct at Bartonon-Humber. Another of the noticeable features of Barton-on-Humber is St. Peter's Church, which deserves mention, as its tower affords a good example of the Anglo-Saxon style of architecture. The name Barton, we may add, is a name common to a number of ham'ets, townships, and parishes in England, of small popula-tion, distinguished by different prefixes and affixes. It is asserted by some that it was originally used to describe a farm of a certain number of acres, and in this sense we understand it is still employed in the West of England.

TEWKESBURY.

THIS is an ancient town in the vale of Evesham, on the Avon, and near its confluence with the Severn. It lies ten miles north-east of Gloucester. The parish church, an ancient and noble Norman edifice, is the most noteworthy architectural feature of the place. The town appears to be of Saxon origin. Within about half a mile of it the battle of Tewkesbury was fought, on the 14th of Norkisks, under Edward IV. and Richard III. defeated the Lancastrians.

Very few operations can be carried on this month, with the exception of trenching and digging in dry weather, operations which should by all means be attended to. The grount should be thoroughly well turned up for exposure to the frost and snow. Plant all sorts of fruit trees in mild weather. Proceed with pruning and nailing wall trees.

MACLEOD'S MAIDENS.
ONE of the remarkable features of the peninsular district of Durinish, to the west of Dunvegan, in the island of Skye, is to be seen in Macleod's Maidens. These are picturesque pyramids rising sheer out of the sea, at the southern extremity of the peninsula, and looking not unlike figures of "women of the period." They are accessible when the wind is from the north. Another interesting feature in the same district is Macleod's Tables, two circular-looking mounds rising to a height of upwards of 1,200 feet, and commanding a magnificent view."

The Months in the above Table are calculated as only Twelve Months to the Year. If the Yearly Wages be one atomics in the above Table are cateniated as only twelve Months to the Year. If the Yearly Wages be Guineas instead of Peunds, for each Guinea add one Penny to each Month, or one Farthing each week. Thus, Six Pounds per Year are Ten Shillings per Month; but if the Wages be Six Guineas, aid one Penny for each Guinea, that is, Sixpence, and it will then be Ten Shillings and Sixpence per Month. In like manner, by adding Six Farthings to each week, the Wages will be Two Shillings and Fivepence per Week.

YOUNG WOMAN'S WONDERFUL STORY.

Chronic Indigestion and Constipation Cured by Bile Beans.

[SPECIAL INTERVIEW.]

When people have been victims to an aliment or weakness from early child-hood, they are apt to regard their condition as incurable, as part of the burden they were destined to carry throughout their lives. This is a serious mistake, Though discusses inherited, or contracted in childhood, are usually the most stubborn, they are not by any means vineurable." The experience of Miss Elizabeth Tyson, of 29, Scarborough Read, Norton, near Malton, affords an instructive instance of how inherited disease may be cradiented when the right medicine is used.

Miss Tyson told her story of her illness and cure to a reporter of the Leeds

Daily News in the following words:-

"From my earliest years I have, unfortunately, been a victim to a chronic form of indigestion, so acute at times as to prostrate me completely. In fact, I had indigestion to such a degree when I was a child going to school that my mother had to warn people not to give me anything to eat. And since then I have been a martyr to the complaint.

"Physic! I have taken dozens of bottles of it, and patent medicines of every sort. For weeks and months together I lived on nothing but milk and porridge. I dared not touch meat; pastry was a thing I would not have eaten for anything.

"Nearly every year I broke down two or three times, and then I should be in bed for several weeks, hardly able to get a wink of sleep, and with severe pains in my chest, back, and shoulders.

"My chest has been quite purple with pain. Sometimes I lost all patience with medicine, and pitched it on one side, saying that I would die before I would take any more. Then I would try dieting, and that used to do me some good. The pain was quite as bad in my arms as in my chest and back. On one occasion I became so feeble that I was compelled to remain at home five weeks unable to do a stroke of work."

"But you seem in capital health now, Miss Tyson," said the reporter.
"Oh, yes," was the reply, "I've improved tremendously. About eight weeks ago I was recommended to try Charles Forde's BILE BEANS for Biliousness, and I did so. The effect was marvellous; I had only taken a few doses when I got relief, and as I continued the course I gradually but firmly improved and grew quite well."

"What was the final effect, Miss Tyson ? "

"I have no pain whatever now, no indigestion, I cat well, even pastry and meat, things I never could indulge in before. To tell the truth, I am eating better now than I have done for many a month, and I am gaining weight. You can understand how glad I am. BILE BEANS have cured me of an ailment which I believed, as I had inherited it, I should have to submit to as long as I live."

BILIOUSNESS.

A more common or annoying complaint than Biliousness it is hard to find. It prohibits the sufferer from doing work of any kind, holding a conversation, or even resting quietly; not only this, but the nausea is most disagreeable, and the taste and It is an ailment caused by a surcharge of bile breath are exceedingly offensive. becoming stagnant in the stomach, and is generally accompanied by Indigestion and Constipation, vomiting and a yellow appearance of the complexion. Dizziness and violent headaches are usual symptoms. The bile is the natural purgative of the body, and is secreted by the liver; if it fails to flow in its usual channels, or to perform its usual duties, the liver is responsible. A remedy should be applied at once that will act in an efficient manner, and the remedy to take is BILE BRANS, which are compounded expressly for ailments of this sort. They are so prepared that they act directly on the liver, helping it to help itself, and enabling it to secrete enough bile to flush the bowels thoroughly, and thus clear off all waste and offensive matter from the system. This remedy is well known, and is conceded the most effective purgative medicine of the age. It does not afford mere temporary relief, but an absolute and lasting cure. It sells on its merits alone.

ANÆMIA, HEADACHE, AND DIZZINESS CURED.

LEEDS WOMAN'S TESTIMONY.

Mrs. ELIZABETH ELLIOTT, 36, Roundhay Road, Leeds, says :-

"I have been a sufferer from ansemia for over ten years, and during that time I was greatly troubled with palpitation of the heart. I grew very weak, and always had a sense of weariness which I could not shake off. My head ached very badly, and occasionally I had fits of dizziness. These, coupled with a feeling of nauses, made me feel very ill indeed. "I tried several kinds of tonic pills and medicines which were recommended, and for a time they seemed to relieve me. After a while, however, the old complaints re-turned, and I should be as bad as ever again."

"How did you happen to hear about 'Bile Beans'?" enquired the representative.

"About last August I happened to read in a pamphlet about some of the cures which had been accomplished by Bile Beans. I was so impressed by the evidence that I re-solved to give the Beans a trial. I purchased a box, and after taking them I felt very a box, and after taking them I left very much better. By continuing with the Beans, my strength gradually returned, and I was able to work again with a will. I did not leave off taking the Beans suddenly. When I had finished the course, I can honestly say I felt better than I had done for a result of the I ha I felt better than I had done for a very long time. I am now in good health again, and this is entirely owing to Bile Beans. I can thoroughly recommend them to all sufferers from Anamia, and I hope that many more will thoroughly recommend them to all sufferers from Anæmia, and I hope that many more win similarly benefit from their use."

Mrs. Elliott then mentioned the case of her husband, who had been troubled for a long time with a disordered liver. Continuing her story, she said:—"On account of his sedentary occupation, my husband has been troubled with a sluggish liver. Seeing that the Beans had done me so much good, he commenced taking them, and they soon cured his complaint. If he happens to be at all out of sorts, he takes a few doses of Bile Beans, and they put him right again.

"My youngest child has been very bad with constipation during the teething period. I administered a few small doses of the Beans, which had the effect of remedying the trouble."

CONSTIPATION.

The causes of constipation may be local or general. The intestines may become narrowed by disease, and collection of hard fæcal masses may follow. Weakness and feeble action of the muscular fibres of the intestines may also occasion the disease, or there may be rheumatism of the abdominal wall, etc. Generally, however, the cause of constipation is sluggishness of the intestines and habitual neglect of the calls of nature. Regular habit is here absolutely essential if health is to be maintained. Now, medical authorities agree that to fly to harmful mineral purgatives as soon as this ailment asserts itself is a mistake as serious as it is widespread. A cure is best brought about by natural means. Purging in all cases should be avoided. A suitable medicine possessing aperient properties should be taken, healthy out-door exercise obtained, green vegetables and brown bread freely eaten. The greatest care is necessary in the selection of the medicine. 'Charles Forde's BILE BEANS bestow an advantage upon sufferers far above that obtained from any other preparation. They are purely vegetable, they avert the evil of purging, and, while correcting the existing evil, they also remove the predisposition towards it which months or years of suffering may have occasioned.

Charles Forde's BILE BEANS for Biliousness are a certain Cure for Headache, Influenza, Constipation, Piles, Liver Trouble, Bad Breath, Rheumatism, Colds, Liver Chill, Indigestion, Flatulence, Dizziness, Buzzing in the Head, Debility, Anæmia, and all Female Ailments.
